Unveiling:

Library of Things

The Library of Things movement challenges people to rethink whether we need (or want) to own goods we rarely use. It also brings people together around a shared vision and reduces wasted resources. These library collections are all a part of the sharing economy. The purpose of these “libraries” is to loan out things people need to use occasionally, but do not necessarily want to own.

Made possible by a Community Impact Grant of $1,200 awarded to the Library by the West Tennessee Healthcare Foundation, our new Library of Things will offer something for everyone! Items must be checked out from the Main Library and patrons must sign a Library of Things agreement.
